New this week

Kelly Reilly and Cole Hauser return as the indomitable Beth Dutton and Rip Wheeler in “Dutton Ranch,” and this time, they’re taking on Texas. The Yellowstone spinoff premieres globally on Paramount+ on Friday, May 15 with two episodes, and will be available to watch on both Paramount+ and Paramount Network. Hauser and Reilly are joined by Academy Award nominees Ed Harris and Annette Bening. Produced by Paramount Television Studios and 101 Studios, the nine-episode first season marks the start of a new series in the Yellowstone universe.

“Yellowstone” ended with Beth and Rip settling down on their new property, a ranch outside of Dillon, Montana, but the peaceful quiet seems to only last for so long. They strike out on their own with their ward, Carter (Finn Little) along for the ride, taking on a 7,000 acre ranch in Texas, far from the ghosts of Yellowstone. Despite the beautiful landscape and quiet lifestyle, life is hard, and a rival ranch owner will stop at nothing to protect his empire.

Now streaming

“Song of the Samurai,” a bold and stylish reimagining of Japanese samurai warriors, based on the popular manga series “Chiruran: Shinsengumi Requiem” is currently streaming on HBO Max.

Set in Kyoto at the end of the Edo period, the story depicts the intense and passionate lives of the Shinsengumi, the iconic samurai force that defended Kyoto in the final years of Japan’s shogunate, through spectacular action and a bold interpretation based on historical facts. The story follows street brawler Toshizo Hijikata (Yuki Yamada), who finds a new kind of family in Isami Kondo and Soji Okita. Hijikata and his comrades in the Shinsengumi forge a bond of loyalty, tested by betrayal, illness, and war, as they fight not only their enemies but their own ideals.

Odyssey,” which opens on July 17; the sci-fi thriller “The End of Oak Street” with Ewan McGregor (out on Aug. 14); “Verity” with Dakota Johnson and Josh Hartnett (due on Oct. 2); and director Ron Howard’s war drama “Alone at Dawn,” with Adam Driver and Betty Gilpin (no release date as of yet).

Returning “Devil Wears Prada 2” star Emily Blunt will also be seen in the sci-fi film “Disclosure Day” with Oscar winner Colin Firth, Josh O’Connor, and Colman Domingo, which releases in theaters on June 12. Blunt is no stranger to sci-fi – “A Quiet Place” (2018) grossed $341 million, and “A Quiet Place II” (2020) grossed $297.5 million. She’s currently producing and starring in the romantic film “Walk the Blue Fields,” which is based on Claire Keegan’s bestselling book.

Blunt’s husband, John Krasinski – who wrote and directed both of the “Quiet Place” films – has completed “Jack Ryan: Ghost War” for Amazon Prime Video, which drops on May 20. He’s currently working on “A Quiet Place III” for a July 2027 release.

Last but not least, “Devil Wears Prada 2” star Stanley Tucci is married to co-star Emily Blunt’s sister, Felicity. (They wed in 2012 and have two children.) Before this, Tucci was wed to social worker Kathryn Spath from 1995 until her death in 2009. They had three children together, and he also raised her two children from her previous marriage after her death.

He was perfect as Paul Child, the husband of Julia Child (Meryl Streep) in “Julie & Julia” (2009), which is one of my favorite films. His cooking show “Stanley Tucci: Searching for Italy” ran for two seasons on CNN from 2021-2022, while “Tucci in Italy” has been running on National Geographic since 2025. Between travel-logging Italy and raising seven kids, Tucci doesn’t have much time to sit on his “tucci”!

CELEBRITY EXTRA

By Dana Jackson

Q: I saw that Alec Baldwin was back in court again for the unfortunate shooting on the set of his movie. I thought that all the charges against him were dismissed. — C.W.

A: Alec Baldwin was charged with involuntary manslaughter for the accidental death of cinematographer Halyna Hutchins, but a judge dismissed the case with prejudice (meaning that it couldn't be refiled) a year later. A settlement was reached between the movie's ("Rust") producers and Hutchins' family. But now Baldwin is in civil court with a suit that was filed by gaffer Serge Svetnoy for emotional distress. This trial is set to begin in October 2026.

Q: When is "Dexter" coming back, and which show will it be? I remember there were two new ones. I want to catch up on the episodes. — S.L.

A: "Dexter: Resurrection" stars Michael C. Hall in the titular role and continues the story where the original "Dexter" series left off. They just began filming season two in April, so I'd expect it on Paramount+ sometime toward the end of 2026. (But don't quote me on that!)

"Dexter: Original Sin" was a prequel series that starred Patrick Gibson in the title role 15 years before Hall played him. It had a loyal following, but unfortunately, its second season was scrapped. The reason for this is likely due to the emergence of "Dexter: Resurrection," and Paramount probably only wanted one "Dexter" series at a time.

Brian Cox ("Succession") will be joining the cast of season two of "Resurrection" as the serial killer known as the New York Ripper. Fans might recall that Cox played a younger Hannibal Lecter in the 1986 film "Manhunter," before Anthony Hopkins won an Oscar for the same role in

Alec Baldwin

"Silence of the Lambs." Bokeem Woodbine (" Fargo") and Nona Parker Johnson ("Mayor of Kingstown") were recently added to the cast, and Uma Thurman ("Kill Bill") will be back as special ops officer Charley.

"Dexter: New Blood" was a limited series about Dexter's son, Harrison. Jack Alcott will be returning in the role for "Resurrection," as he did in season one. This is a lot of "Dexter" to catch up on, so get busy streaming!

Q: What ever happened to the spin-off of "The Neighborhood" with the sons? I just realized it never popped up for the new fall season. — H.C.

A: Unfortunately, the proposed spin-off about the Butler sons with Marcel Spears and Sheاون McKinney in their new neighborhood in Venice Beach, California, has been scrapped by CBS. According to TVLine, Justin Long ("Goosebumps") and Hunter King ("The Young and the Restless"), who appeared in the season seven finale of "The Neighborhood," were also "part of a backdoor pilot for the spin-off" that never came to be.

"The Neighborhood" did have another spin-off, but it was short-lived. It starred Tracy Morgan as Calvin's (Cedric the Entertainer) cousin and aired on Paramount+, but it was canceled after one season. Fortunately, for Morgan, he's bounced back with a new hit sitcom — "The Fall and Rise of Reggie Dinkins" on NBC.

USMNT Documentary Tracks Four-Year Journey Toward 2026 World Cup

By Jennifer Harrison

The U.S. Men's National Soccer Team has spent four years preparing for the 2026 FIFA World Cup, and HBO is offering an exclusive all-access look inside their journey. The network's new five-part documentary series, "U.S. Against the World: Four Years With the Men's National Soccer Team," premieres Tuesday, May 12, at 9 p.m. on HBO, with episodes also streaming on HBO Max. It acts as a forward-looking account focusing on the intense pressure and high expectations for the team to deliver a historic performance on home soil. Beginning with never-before-seen footage of the USMNT at the 2022 World Cup in Qatar, cameras capture the players through training camps and international matches, as well as intimate off-the-field moments at home and abroad.

At the center is a roster that blends established figures with emerging contributors, many of whom have spent the last several years defining their roles. Christian Pulisic remains the most visible presence, arguably the most talented player with the highest ceiling in the group. He is still building confidence and form after recovering from injuries, but remains a key offensive presence. Now among the program's most productive attackers, he carries both the scoring responsibility and the broader expectation of leading a group that is no longer satisfied with incremental progress. Alongside him, Folarin Balogun has quickly established himself as a consistent goal scoring option since committing internationally in 2023, while Gio Reyna continues to offer technical precision and creativity in advanced positions. Brenden Aaronson adds energy and flexibility across attacking roles, and Diego Luna represents a younger presence pushing into contention after a breakout run that has elevated his standing within the pool.

Tyler Adams plans to represent his country at the World Cup for the second time, after having been sidelined due to injury. He has not appeared for the U.S. since September 2022, where he started all four games before the team was knocked out in the last 16. When he announced he was feeling strong and was ready to compete it was a big morale booster - his leadership and defensive discipline are real assets for the team.

Weston McKennie continues to serve as one of the most adaptable players in the system, capable of influencing matches in multiple roles depending on tactical need. The inclusion of Malik Tillman and Timmy Tillman highlights the program's expanding reach, with both players bringing European development backgrounds and increasing international experience into a group that is becoming deeper and more competitive.

Defensively, the series focuses on a unit that balances experience with recent performance. Chris Richards enters the cycle following a strong run that included a trip to the Gold Cup Final, positioning himself as a key figure in central defense. Veteran Tim Ream provides continuity and leadership, his career spanning multiple competitive cycles and offering a steady presence within a changing roster. On the outside, Antonee Robinson has developed into one of the team's most reliable contributors, while Sergiño Dest adds pace and attacking support following his return from injury.

In goal, the competition reflects both established experience and emerging depth. Matt Turner brings World Cup experience and a history of strong performances in international play, while Matt Freese continues to push for a larger role after building momentum at both the club and international levels.

Beyond the roster, the documentary captures a significant shift on the sideline with the transition from former head coach Gregg Berhalter to current manager Mauricio Pochettino. The change represents more than a routine adjustment, signaling a recalibration in tactical approach, training philosophy and overall expectations. The series frames this transition as a defining moment - a significant shift that resets their strategy and recalibrates the team as they get closer to the World Cup.

Hosting the World Cup introduces a unique layer of expectation, raising both external scrutiny and internal urgency. The series presents this environment as a defining test, one that will ultimately determine whether the program can translate years of preparation into a meaningful result on the global stage.

What emerges is a portrait of a team operating within increasingly narrow margins, where the difference between inclusion and omission, and between promise and achievement, is often minimal. By embedding cameras throughout the process, HBO captures both the visible competition and the quieter moments that shape a team's identity.

As June 2026 approaches, the focus turns to the rising urgency of individual players fighting to secure their spots on the World Cup roster and the pressure on Pochettino and his team to deliver a historic performance on home soil. "I wouldn't say anybody's a sure lock for the World Cup," says Tyler Adams. "That's one thing Mauricio's harped on since the first day he's come in, is that everyone needs to continue to play well with their clubs to have an opportunity to play with the national team."

COUCH THEATER

By Demi Taveras

“Malcolm in the Middle: Life’s Still Unfair” (TV-14) – The Reboot Era has brought yet another revival of a beloved sitcom: “Malcolm in the Middle,” starring Frankie Muniz, Bryan Cranston, and Jane Kaczmarek. This is a major move for Muniz, who hasn’t starred in a main role for television or movies in almost two decades! This miniseries picks up almost 20 years after the end of the original series, and Malcolm (Muniz) has since distanced himself from his chaotic family to maintain some semblance of peace in his life. He now has a daughter named Leah (Keeley Karsten) and a girlfriend named Tristan (Kiana Madeira), but when Hal (Cranston) and Lois (Kaczmarek) require his presence at their 40th anniversary, Malcolm gets sucked right back in! Life’s still unfair, indeed! All four episodes are out now to stream. (Hulu)

“Balls Up” (R) – Who will volunteer as tribute to stop Mark Wahlberg from making action/comedy films where he plays the same character every time? (The answer is no one!) Quips aside, “Balls Up” stars an interesting clan of comedic actors, including Paul Walter Hauser (“Springsteen: Deliver Me from Nowhere”), Molly Shannon (“Saturday Night Live”), and Sacha Baron Cohen (“Disclaimer”). Wahlberg and Hauser play two rival co-workers at a condom company who get a little too boozed up at the World Cup Final. When their drunken shenanigans cost Brazil the game, the pair must find a way to make it out of Brazil in one piece before the fans eat them alive. Stream it now! (Amazon Prime Video)

“Funny AF with Kevin Hart” (TV-MA) – Comedian/actor Kevin Hart (“Borderlands”) hosts this new competition show that searches for the next best stand-up comedian across the nation! With the help of guest judges like Chelsea Handler, Nikki Glaser, Kumail Nanjiani, and Keegan-Michael Key, Hart travels around the country to different venues where comics present their stand-up sets, and viewers at home can vote in real time for their favorite comic. The competition was created to mimic the journey of what comedians really go through on the road, which will poise the winner to become the next stand-up superstar! Six episodes are out currently, with the next two to be released on May 4 and May 5. (Netflix)

DIVAS ON A DIME

By Patti Diamond

A Crowd-Pleasing Chicken Queso Fundido

A creamy, cheesy dip with salsa verde and seasoned chicken? Why, yes. Yes, please. This is queso fundido’s heartier, more satisfying cousin, loaded with tender chicken and layered flavor that goes way beyond your basic nacho cheese. It’s perfect for any gathering that calls for something warm and utterly irresistible. Serve it with tortilla chips or crisp veggies for dipping. This recipe serves a crowd, but don’t worry about making too much, because any leftovers are downright glorious spooned over baked potatoes or rice.

When I developed this recipe, I happened to have a house full of family. The only thing faster than making this amazing recipe was how quickly it disappeared. File this under “big hit.”

There is an optional step, roasting poblano peppers. Roasting poblanos adds a deep, earthy flavor that really elevates this queso. It’s easy! Here’s how: Place them on a baking sheet directly under the broiler, turning as needed, until the skins are blistered and blackened on all sides. Remove from the oven and cover with foil tightly to steam for 5-10 minutes. Once cool enough to handle, peel off the skins, remove seeds for less heat, if desired, dice and set aside. To my taste, this step absolutely makes this dish, but if you choose to skip it, substitute with a 7-ounce can of diced mild green chili peppers. Now that you know how, you’ll do it all the time.

POLLO QUESO FUNDIDO

Yield: 10+ appetizer servings

Total Time: 45 mins

2 poblano peppers, optional but highly recommended

2 pounds chicken breast

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon black pepper

1 teaspoon cumin

1 teaspoon garlic powder

1 (16 ounce) bag of frozen onion and pepper blend

16 ounces salsa verde

2 tablespoons butter

1 yellow onion, diced

3 cloves garlic, minced

2 tablespoons flour

1 cup whole milk or half and half

8 ounces cream cheese, cubed

3 1/2 cups Cheddar and Monterey jack cheese blend, shredded, divided

Green onion, cilantro and tomato for garnish

Serve with tortilla chips, bell pepper and celery for dipping

Roast poblanos (if using) according to directions above. Peel, dice, set aside.

Bake the chicken: Preheat the oven to 350 F and grease a 9”x13” baking dish with cooking spray or olive oil.

Cut chicken into big chunks and place in a baking dish. Toss with salt, pepper, cumin and garlic powder. Add frozen peppers and onions, pour in salsa verde, cover with foil and bake 22-25 minutes until cooked through. While this bakes, make the queso.

Make the queso: Melt butter in a large skillet. Cook diced onion until soft. Add garlic; cook briefly. Stir in flour and cook 1-2 minutes. Add milk, stirring until thickened. Add cream cheese and melt. Stir in 3 cups shredded cheese, one handful at a time, until melted. Mixture will be thick.

Combine: By now the chicken should be done. Shred the cooked chicken in the pan. Add the entire mixture – the whole shebang! (chicken, veggies and salsa) – to the queso. Stir in half the poblanos.

Finish (optional but worth it): Transfer to baking dish, top with remaining cheese and bake for 10 minutes, until bubbly. Broil briefly for a golden top if desired.

Garnish and serve: Artistically top with remaining poblanos, green onion, cilantro and tomato. Serve hot with chips and veggies.
